

THE ART OF ANTHOLOGY

STORIES OF YOU CELEBRATES ADMIRABLE COLLECTIONS

Each of Edward Hopper's quintessentially American paintings suggests many stories but doesn't definitely tell any single tale. Building on their rich suggestiveness, Lawrence Block invited accomplished authors to write short fiction based on a Hopper painting. The 17 pieces, from a mini-Who's Who of contemporary fiction writers, work beautifully as fiction, provoke thought about the links between verbal and visual storytelling, and celebrate Hopper's enduring vision.—Suzanne Fox
